GLENALLACHIE-SPEYSIDE

Nose: The first impression on the nose is rich and unctuous; scented oil (hair lacquer, Brylcream), sandalwood and tinned fruit salad. Taste & Finish: The taste is old fashioned, a reminder of how whiskies tasted long ago: canvas, guy ropes, a distinct whiff of coal smoke; sweet (crystalline coffee sugar) and slightly mouth drying. A drop of water raises fruity and waxy notes – stewed gooseberries in suet dumpling, then stewed apples. A smooth texture and a taste reminiscent of old Calvados.

Sweetish to start, with some spice and mouth-drying liquorice; a long finish, and distinct cloves in the aftertaste. Complex and interesting.
